SUMMARY

The following summary is qualified in its entirety by more detailed information that may appear elsewhere in this Form C/A and the Exhibits hereto. Each prospective Investor is urged to read this Form C/A and the Exhibits hereto in their entirety.

CISAPP Online Inc. (the "Company") is a Delaware Corporation, formed on September 1, 2020. The Company is currently also conducting business under the name of CISAPP Online Private Limited based on a Technology Assignment Agreement between us and CISAPP Online Private Limited.

The Company is located at 1334 Brittmoore Rd, Houston, TX 77043.

The Company's website is <https://www.cisapp.co/>.

The information available on or through our website is not a part of this Form C/A. In making an investment decision with respect to our Securities, you should only consider the information contained in this Form C/A.

The Business

Founded in 2019 as CISAPP Online Private Limited, ConnectinSingle App (CiSApp) is a decentralized social network for users to connect with the right audiences on their own terms. The app is built with integrated blockchain technology for social interaction with friends, family, public groups, and professional networks within one unified platform. When a user signs up on the platform, they are asked to verify their identity through face data, which creates a unique digital identity stored on the decentralized network.

Additionally, content created on the app is linked to the blockchain to prevent multiple copies of the same content from existing, enabling original content creators to get appropriate credit for their work. Rather than selling user data for advertising revenue, CiSApp anticipates a model where its proprietary algorithm matches brands with content creators based on the communities (i.e., public groups) in which they are active on the platform.

RISK FACTORS

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We are an early stage company, with limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

We are an early stage company. We were incorporated under the laws of Delaware on September 1, 2020. Accordingly, we have no history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with a new enterprise. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. We anticipate that our operating expenses will increase in the near future. There can be no assurances that we will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business, operations, and prospects in light of the risks, expenses, and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

Our management team has limited experience in the social media and technology industry and has not managed a business with similar risks and challenges specific to our business.

Members of our management team may make decisions detrimental to our business and/or be unable to successfully manage our operations. The ineffective management of our business will have a negative effect on our results of operations.

In order for the Company to compete and grow, it must attract, recruit, retain and develop the necessary personnel who have the needed experience.

Recruiting and retaining highly qualified personnel is critical to our success. These demands may require us to hire additional personnel and will require our existing management personnel to develop additional expertise. We face intense competition for personnel. The failure to attract and retain personnel or to develop such expertise could delay or halt the development and commercialization of our product candidates. If we experience difficulties in hiring and retaining personnel in key positions, we could suffer from delays in product development, loss of customers and sales and diversion of management resources, which could adversely affect operating results. Our consultants and advisors may be employed by third parties and may have commitments under consulting or advisory contracts with third parties that may limit their availability to us.

The development and commercialization of our products is highly competitive.

We face competition with respect to any products that we may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Our competitors include both small and major companies worldwide, such as are Diaspora, Friendica, Minds, Sapien, and Steemit. Many of our competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources than we have and superior expertise in research and development and marketing approved products and thus may be better equipped than us to develop and commercialize products. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, our competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than we are able to, which would adversely affect our competitive position, the likelihood that our products will achieve initial market acceptance and our ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from our products.

We depend on third-party service providers and outsource providers for a variety of services and we outsource a number of our non-core functions and operations.

In certain instances, we rely on single or limited service providers and outsourcing vendors around the world because the relationship is advantageous due to quality, price, or lack of alternative sources. If production or service was interrupted and we were not able to find alternate third-party providers, we could experience disruptions in manufacturing and operations including product shortages, higher freight costs and re-engineering costs. If outsourcing services are interrupted or not performed or the performance is poor, this could impact our ability to process, record and report transactions with our customers and other constituents. Such interruptions in the provision of supplies and/or services could result in our inability to meet customer demand, damage our reputation and customer relationships and adversely affect our business.

We depend on third party providers, suppliers and licensors to supply some of the hardware, software, and operational support necessary to provide some of our services.

We obtain these materials from a limited number of vendors, some of which do not have a long operating history, or which may not be able to continue to supply the equipment and services we desire. Some of our hardware, software and operational support vendors represent our sole source of supply or have, either through contract or as a result of intellectual property rights, a position of some exclusivity. If demand exceeds these vendors' capacity or if these vendors experience operating or financial difficulties or are otherwise unable to provide the equipment or services we need in a timely manner, at our specifications and at reasonable prices, our ability to provide some services might be materially adversely affected, or the need to procure or develop alternative sources of the affected materials or services might delay our ability to serve our customers. These events could materially and adversely affect our ability to retain and attract customers, and have a material negative impact on our operations, business, financial results and financial condition.

We may implement new lines of business or offer new products and services within existing lines of business.

There are substantial risks and uncertainties associated with these efforts, particularly in instances where the markets are not fully developed. In developing and marketing new lines of business and/or new products and services, we may invest significant time and resources. Initial timetables for the introduction and development of new lines of business and/or new products or services may not be achieved and price and profitability targets may not prove feasible. We may not be successful in introducing new products and services in response to industry trends or developments in technology, or those new products may not achieve market acceptance. As a result, we could lose business, be forced to price products and services on less advantageous terms to retain or attract clients, or be subject to cost increases. As a result, our business, financial condition or results of operations may be adversely affected.

In general, demand for our products and services is highly correlated with general economic conditions.

A substantial portion of our revenue is derived from discretionary spending by individuals, which typically falls during times of economic instability. Declines in economic conditions in the U.S. or in other countries in which we operate may adversely impact our consolidated financial results. Because such declines in demand are difficult to predict, we or the industry may have increased excess capacity as a result. An increase in excess capacity may result in declines in prices for our products and services.

Through our operations, we collect and store certain personal information that our customers provide to purchase products or services, enroll in promotional programs, register on our web site, or otherwise communicate and interact with us.

We may share information about such persons with vendors that assist with certain aspects of our business. Security could be compromised and confidential customer or business information misappropriated. Loss of customer or business information could disrupt our operations, damage our reputation, and expose us to claims from customers, financial institutions, payment card associations and other persons, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, compliance with tougher privacy and information security laws and standards may result in significant expense due to increased investment in technology and the development of new operational processes.

We operate in virtually every part of the world and serve customers in more than two countries.

Our operations are subject to the effects of global competition and geopolitical risks. They are also affected by local economic environments, including inflation, recession, currency volatility and actual or anticipated default on sovereign debt. Political changes, some of which may be disruptive, can interfere with our supply chain, our customers and all of our activities in a particular location. While some of these global economic and political risks can be hedged using derivatives or other financial instruments and some are insurable, such attempts to mitigate these risks are costly and not always successful, and our ability to engage in such mitigation may decrease or become even more costly as a result of more volatile market conditions.

Our international operations could be affected by currency fluctuations, capital and exchange controls, expropriation and other restrictive government actions, changes in intellectual property legal protections and remedies, trade regulations and procedures and actions affecting approval, production, pricing, and marketing of, reimbursement for and access to our products, as well as by political unrest, unstable governments and legal systems and inter-governmental disputes.

Any of these changes could adversely affect our business. Many emerging markets have experienced growth rates in excess of the world's largest markets, leading to an increased contribution to the industry's global performance. There is no assurance that these countries will continue to sustain these growth rates. In addition, some emerging market countries may be particularly vulnerable to periods of financial instability or significant currency fluctuations or may have limited resources for healthcare spending, which can adversely affect our results.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees.

In particular, the Company is dependent on Imran Palem, Bhargav Varma, and Brad Jenkins who are CEO, COO, and Director of the Company. The Company has or intends to enter into employment agreements with Imran Palem, Bhargav Varma, and Brad Jenkins although there can be no assurance that it will do so or that they will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of Imran Palem, Bhargav Varma, and Brad Jenkins or any member of the board of directors or executive officer could harm the Company's business, financial condition, cash flow and results of operations.

Although dependent on certain key personnel, the Company does not have any key man life insurance policies on any such people.

The Company is dependent on Imran Palem, Bhargav Varma, and Brad Jenkins in order to conduct its operations and execute its business plan, however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if any of Imran Palem, Bhargav Varma, and Brad Jenkins die or become disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such person's absence. The loss of such person could negatively affect the Company and its operations.

We have not prepared any audited financial statements.

Therefore, you have no audited financial information regarding the Company's capitalization or assets or liabilities on which to make your investment decision. If you feel the information provided is insufficient, you should not invest in the Company.

We are subject to income taxes as well as non-income based taxes, such as payroll, sales, use, value-added, net worth, property and goods and services taxes, in both the U.S. and various foreign jurisdictions.

Significant judgment is required in determining our provision for income taxes and other tax liabilities. In the ordinary course of our business, there are many transactions and calculations where the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. Although we believe that our tax estimates are reasonable: (i) there is no assurance that the final determination of tax audits or tax disputes will not be different from what is reflected in our income tax provisions, expense amounts for non-income based taxes and accruals and (ii) any material differences could have an adverse effect on our financial position and results of operations in the period or periods for which determination is made.

We are not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and lack the financial controls and safeguards required of public companies.

We do not have the internal infrastructure necessary, and are not required, to complete an attestation about our financial controls that would be required under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. There can be no assurance that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of our financial controls. We expect to incur additional expenses and diversion of management's time if and when it becomes necessary to perform the system and process evaluation, testing and remediation required in order to comply with the management certification and auditor attestation requirements.

Changes in employment laws or regulation could harm our performance.

Various federal and state labor laws govern our relationship with our employees and affect operating costs. These laws include minimum wage requirements, overtime pay, healthcare reform and the implementation of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, unemployment tax rates, workers' compensation rates, citizenship requirements, union membership and sales taxes. A number of factors could adversely affect our operating results, including additional government-imposed increases in minimum wages, overtime pay, paid leaves of absence and mandated health benefits, mandated training for employees, increased tax reporting and tax payment, changing regulations from the National Labor Relations Board and increased employee litigation including claims relating to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The Company's business operations may be materially adversely affected by a pandemic such as the Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak.

In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus was reported to have surfaced in Wuhan, China, which spread throughout other parts of the world, including the United States. On January 30, 2020, the World Health Organization declared the outbreak of the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) a "Public Health Emergency of International Concern." On January 31, 2020, U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Alex M. Azar II declared a public health emergency for the United States to aid the U.S. healthcare community in responding to COVID-19, and on March 11, 2020 the World Health Organization characterized the outbreak as a "pandemic." COVID-19 resulted in a widespread health crisis that adversely affected the economies and financial markets worldwide. The Company's business could be materially and adversely affected. The extent to which COVID-19 impacts the Company's business will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of COVID-19 and the actions to contain COVID-19 or treat its impact, among others. If the disruptions posed by COVID-19 or other matters of global concern continue for an extended period of time, the Company's operations may be materially adversely affected.

We face risks related to health epidemics and other outbreaks, which could significantly disrupt the Company's operations and could have a material adverse impact on us.

The outbreak of pandemics and epidemics could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, and results of operations. If a pandemic occurs in areas in which we have material operations or sales, the Company's business activities originating from affected areas, including sales, materials, and supply chain related activities, could be adversely affected. Disruptive activities could include the temporary closure of facilities used in the Company's supply chain processes, restrictions on the export or shipment of products necessary to run the Company's business, business closures in impacted areas, and restrictions on the Company's employees' or consultants' ability to travel and to meet with customers, vendors or other business relationships. The extent to which a pandemic or other health outbreak impacts the Company's results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of a virus and the actions to contain it or treat its impact, among others. Pandemics can also result in social, economic, and labor instability which may adversely impact the Company's business.

If the Company's employees or employees of any of the Company's vendors, suppliers or customers become ill or are quarantined and in either or both events are therefore unable to work, the Company's operations could be subject to disruption. The extent to which a pandemic affects the Company's results will depend on future developments that are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted.

We face risks relating to public health conditions such as the COVID-19 pandemic, which could adversely affect the Company's customers, business, and results of operations.

Our business and prospects could be materially adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic or recurrences of that or any other such disease in the future. Material adverse effects from COVID-19 and similar occurrences could result in numerous known and currently unknown ways including quarantines and lockdowns which impair the Company's business including less efficiency and performance in tech and marketing functions and a decrease in modules of code written from the developers. Quarantine can affect us in various ways such as overall team performance, planning, fewer deliverables of code, tasks incomplete, managing employees, and tracking. If the Company purchases materials from suppliers in affected areas, the Company may not be able to procure such products in a timely manner. The effects of a pandemic can place travel restrictions on key personnel which could have a material impact on the business. In addition, a significant outbreak of contagious diseases in the human population could result in a widespread health crisis that could adversely affect the economies and financial markets of many countries, resulting in an economic downturn that could reduce the demand for the Company's products and impair the Company's business prospects including as a result of being unable to raise additional capital on acceptable terms to us, if at all.

The Company could be negatively impacted if found to have infringed on intellectual property rights.

Technology companies, including many of the Company's competitors, frequently enter into litigation based on allegations of patent infringement or other violations of intellectual property rights. In addition, patent holding companies seek to monetize patents they have purchased or otherwise obtained. As the Company grows, the intellectual property rights claims against it will likely increase. The Company intends to vigorously defend infringement actions in court and before the U.S. International Trade Commission. The plaintiffs in these actions frequently seek injunctions and substantial damages. Regardless of the scope or validity of such patents or other intellectual property rights, or the merits of any claims by potential or actual litigants, the Company may have to engage in protracted litigation. If the Company is found to infringe one or more patents or other intellectual property rights, regardless of whether it can develop non-infringing technology, it may be required to pay substantial damages or royalties to a third-party, or it may be subject to a temporary or permanent injunction prohibiting the Company from marketing or selling certain products. In certain cases, the Company may consider the desirability of entering into licensing agreements, although no assurance can be given that such licenses can be obtained on acceptable terms or that litigation will not occur. These licenses may also significantly increase the Company's operating expenses.

Regardless of the merit of particular claims, litigation may be expensive, time-consuming, disruptive to the Company's operations and distracting to management. In recognition of these considerations, the Company may enter into arrangements to settle litigation. If one or more legal matters were resolved against the Company's consolidated financial statements for that reporting period could be materially adversely affected. Further, such an outcome could result in significant compensatory, punitive or trebled monetary damages, disgorgement of revenue or profits, remedial corporate measures or injunctive relief against the Company that could adversely affect its financial condition and results of operations.

Indemnity provisions in various agreements potentially expose us to substantial liability for intellectual property infringement and other losses.

Our agreements with advertisers, advertising agencies, customers and other third parties may include indemnification provisions under which we agree to indemnify them for losses suffered or incurred as a result of claims of intellectual property infringement, damages caused by us to property or persons, or other liabilities relating to or arising from our products, services or other contractual obligations. The term of these indemnity provisions generally survives termination or expiration of the applicable agreement. Large indemnity payments would harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, any type of intellectual property lawsuit, whether initiated by us or a third party, would likely be time consuming and expensive to resolve and would divert management's time and attention.

We rely heavily on our technology and intellectual property, but we may be unable to adequately or cost-effectively protect or enforce our intellectual property rights, thereby weakening our competitive position and increasing operating costs.

To protect our rights in our services and technology, we rely on a combination of copyright and trademark laws, patents, trade secrets, confidentiality agreements with employees and third parties, and protective contractual provisions. We also rely on laws pertaining to trademarks and domain names to protect the value of our corporate brands and reputation. Despite our efforts to protect our proprietary rights, unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our services or technology, obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary, or otherwise violate or infringe our intellectual property rights. In addition, it is possible that others could independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property. If we do not effectively protect our intellectual property, or if others independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property, our competitive position could be weakened.

Effectively policing the unauthorized use of our services and technology is time-consuming and costly, and the steps taken by us may not prevent misappropriation of our technology or other proprietary assets. The efforts we have taken to protect our proprietary rights may not be sufficient or effective, and unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our services, use similar marks or domain names, or obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary. We may have to litigate to enforce our intellectual property rights, to protect our trade secrets, or to determine the validity and scope of others' proprietary rights, which are sometimes not clear or may change. Litigation can be time consuming and expensive, and the outcome can be difficult to predict.

From time to time, third parties may claim that one or more of our products or services infringe their intellectual property rights.

Any dispute or litigation regarding patents or other intellectual property could be costly and time-consuming due to the complexity of our technology and the uncertainty of intellectual property litigation and could divert our management and key personnel from our business operations. A claim of intellectual property infringement could force us to enter into a costly or restrictive license agreement, which might not be available under acceptable terms or at all, could require us to redesign our products, which would be costly and time-consuming, and/or could subject us to an injunction against development and sale of certain of our products or services. We may have to pay substantial damages, including damages for past infringement if it is ultimately determined that our products infringe on a third party's proprietary rights. Even if these claims are without merit, defending a lawsuit takes significant time, may be expensive and may divert management's attention from other business concerns. Any public announcements related to litigation or interference proceedings initiated or threatened against us could cause our business to be harmed. Our intellectual property portfolio may not be useful in asserting a counterclaim, or negotiating a license, in response to a claim of intellectual property infringement. In certain of our businesses we rely on third party intellectual property licenses and we cannot ensure that these licenses will be available to us in the future on favorable terms or at all.

The use of individually identifiable data by our business, our business associates and third parties is regulated at the state, federal and international levels.

Costs associated with information security – such as investment in technology, the costs of compliance with consumer protection laws and costs resulting from consumer fraud – could cause our business and results of operations to suffer materially. Additionally, the success of our online operations depends upon the secure transmission of confidential information over public networks, including the use of cashless payments. The intentional or negligent actions of employees, business associates or third parties may undermine our security measures. As a result, unauthorized parties may obtain access to our data systems and misappropriate confidential data. There can be no assurance that advances in computer capabilities, new discoveries in the field of cryptography or other developments will prevent the compromise of our customer transaction processing capabilities and personal data. If any such compromise of our security or the security of information residing with our business associates or third parties were to occur, it could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, operating results and financial condition. Any compromise of our data security may materially increase the costs we incur to protect against such breaches and could subject us to additional legal risk.

The collection, processing, storage, use and disclosure of personal data could give rise to liabilities as a result of governmental regulation, conflicting legal requirements or differing views of personal privacy rights.

We receive, collect, process, transmit, store and use a large volume of personally identifiable information and other sensitive data from customers and potential customers. There are federal, state and foreign laws regarding privacy, recording telephone calls and the storing, sharing, use, disclosure and protection of personally identifiable information and sensitive data. Specifically, personally identifiable information is increasingly subject to legislation and regulations to protect the privacy of personal information that is collected, processed and transmitted. Any violations of these laws and regulations may require us to change our business practices or operational structure, address legal claims and sustain monetary penalties and/or other harms to our business.

The regulatory framework for privacy issues in the United States and internationally is constantly evolving and is likely to remain uncertain for the foreseeable future. The interpretation and application of such laws is often uncertain, and such laws may be interpreted and applied in a manner inconsistent with our current policies and practices or require changes to the features of our platform. If either we or our third party service providers are unable to address any privacy concerns, even if unfounded, or to comply with applicable laws and regulations, it could result in additional costs and liability, damage our reputation and harm our business.

Security breaches and other disruptions could compromise our information and expose us to liability, which would cause our business and reputation to suffer.

We collect and store sensitive data, including intellectual property, our proprietary business information and that of our customers, and personally identifiable information of our customers and employees, in our data centers and on our networks. The secure processing, maintenance and transmission of this information is critical to our operations. Despite our security measures, our information technology and infrastructure may be vulnerable to attacks by hackers or breached due to employee error, malfeasance or other disruptions. Any such breach could compromise our networks and the information stored there could be accessed, publicly disclosed, lost or stolen. Any such access, disclosure or other loss of information could result in legal claims or proceedings, liability under laws that protect the privacy of personal information, and regulatory penalties, disrupt our operations and the services we provide to customers, and cause a loss of confidence in our products and services, which could adversely affect our business/operating margins, revenues and competitive position.

An intentional or unintentional disruption, failure, misappropriation or corruption of our network and information systems could severely affect our business.

Such an event might be caused by computer hacking, computer viruses, worms and other destructive or disruptive software, "cyber attacks" and other malicious activity, as well as natural disasters, power outages, terrorist attacks and similar events. Such events could have an adverse impact on us and our customers, including degradation of service, service disruption, excessive call volume to call centers and damage to our plant, equipment and data. In addition, our future results could be adversely affected due to the theft, destruction, loss, misappropriation or release of confidential customer data or intellectual property. Operational or business delays may result from the disruption of network or information systems and the subsequent remediation activities. Moreover, these events may create negative publicity resulting in reputation or brand damage with customers.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including "bugs" and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

Negative public opinion could damage our reputation and adversely affect our business.

Reputation risk, or the risk to our business from negative public opinion, is inherent in our business. Negative public opinion can result from our actual or alleged conduct in any number of activities, including corporate governance, and actions taken by government regulators and community organizations in response to those activities. Negative public opinion can also result from media coverage, whether accurate or not. Negative public opinion can adversely affect our ability to attract and retain customers and employees and can expose us to litigation and regulatory action.

We rely on agreements with third parties to provide certain services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights necessary to enable us to implement some of our applications.

Our ability to implement and provide our applications and services to our clients depends, in part, on services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights owned or controlled by third parties. These third parties may become unable to or refuse to continue to provide these services, goods, technology, or intellectual property rights on commercially reasonable terms consistent with our business practices, or otherwise discontinue a service important for us to continue to operate our applications. If we fail to replace these services, goods, technologies, or intellectual property rights in a timely manner or on commercially reasonable terms, our operating results and financial condition could be harmed. In addition, we exercise limited control over our third-party vendors, which increases our vulnerability to problems with technology and services those vendors provide. If the services, technology, or intellectual property of third parties were to fail to perform as expected, it could subject us to potential liability, adversely affect our renewal rates, and have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

If we fail to maintain or expand our relationships with our suppliers, in some cases single-source suppliers, we may not have adequate access to new or key technology necessary for our products, which may impair our ability to deliver leading-edge products.

In addition to the technologies we develop, our suppliers develop product innovations at our direction that are requested by our customers. Further, we rely heavily on our component suppliers, to provide us with leading-edge components that conform to required specifications or contractual arrangements on time and in accordance with a product roadmap. If we are not able to maintain or expand our relationships with our suppliers or continue to leverage their research and development capabilities to develop new technologies desired by our customers, our ability to deliver leading-edge products in a timely manner may be impaired and we could be required to incur additional research and development expenses. Also, disruption in our supply chain or the need to find alternative suppliers could impact the costs and/or timing associated with procuring necessary products, components and services. Similarly, suppliers have operating risks that could impact our business. These risks could create product time delays, inventory and invoicing problems, staging delays, and other operational difficulties.

We must acquire or develop new products, evolve existing ones, address any defects or errors, and adapt to technology change.

Technical developments, client requirements, programming languages, and industry standards change frequently in our markets. As a result, success in current markets and new markets will depend upon our ability to enhance current products, address any product defects or errors, acquire or develop and introduce new products that meet client needs, keep pace with technology changes, respond to competitive products, and achieve market acceptance. Product development requires substantial investments for research, refinement, and testing. We may not have sufficient resources to make necessary product development investments. We may experience technical or other difficulties that will delay or prevent the successful development, introduction, or implementation of new or enhanced products. We may also experience technical or other difficulties in the integration of acquired technologies into our existing platform and applications. Inability to introduce or implement new or enhanced products in a timely manner could result in loss of market share if competitors are able to provide solutions to meet customer needs before we do, give rise to unanticipated expenses related to further development or modification of acquired technologies as a result of integration issues, and adversely affect future performance.

Our failure to deliver high quality server solutions could damage our reputation and diminish demand for our products, and subject us to liability.

Our customers require our products to perform at a high level, contain valuable features and be extremely reliable. The design of our server solutions is sophisticated and complex, and the process for manufacturing, assembling and testing our server solutions is challenging. Occasionally, our design or manufacturing processes may fail to deliver products of the quality that our customers require. For example, a vendor may provide us with a defective component that failed under certain heavy use applications. As a result, our product would need to be repaired. The vendor may agree to pay for the costs of the repairs, but we may incur costs in connection with the recall and diverted resources from other projects. New flaws or limitations in our products may be detected in the future. Part of our strategy is to bring new products to market quickly, and first-generation products may have a higher likelihood of containing undetected flaws. If our customers discover defects or other performance problems with our products, our customers' businesses, and our reputation, may be damaged. Customers may elect to delay or withhold payment for defective or underperforming products, request remedial action, terminate contracts for untimely delivery, or elect not to order additional products. If we do not properly address customer concerns about our products, our reputation and relationships with our customers may be harmed. In addition, we may be subject to product liability claims for a defective product. Any of the foregoing could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Cyclical and seasonal fluctuations in the economy, in internet usage and in traditional retail shopping may have an effect on our business.

Both cyclical and seasonal fluctuations in internet usage and traditional retail seasonality may affect our business. Internet usage generally slows during the summer months, and queries typically increase significantly in the fourth quarter of each year. These seasonal trends may cause fluctuations in our quarterly results, including fluctuations in revenues.

The products we sell are advanced, and we need to rapidly and successfully develop and introduce new products in a competitive, demanding and rapidly changing environment.

To succeed in our intensely competitive industry, we must continually improve, refresh and expand our product and service offerings to include newer features, functionality or solutions, and keep pace with price-to-performance gains in the industry. Shortened product life cycles due to customer demands and competitive pressures impact the pace at which we must introduce and implement new technology. This requires a high level of innovation by both our software developers and the suppliers of the third-party software components included in our systems. In addition, bringing new solutions to the market entails a costly and lengthy process, and requires us to accurately anticipate customer needs and technology trends. We must continue to respond to market demands, develop leading technologies and maintain leadership in analytic data solutions performance and scalability, or our business operations may be adversely affected.

We must also anticipate and respond to customer demands regarding the compatibility of our current and prior offerings. These demands could hinder the pace of introducing and implementing new technology. Our future results may be affected if our products cannot effectively interface and perform well with software products of other companies and with our customers' existing IT infrastructures, or if we are unsuccessful in our efforts to enter into agreements allowing integration of third-party technology with our database and software platforms. Our efforts to develop the interoperability of our products may require significant investments of capital and employee resources. In addition, many of our principal products are used with products offered by third parties and, in the future, some vendors of non-Company products may become less willing to provide us with access to their products, technical information and marketing and sales support. As a result of these and other factors, our ability to introduce new or improved solutions could be adversely impacted and our business would be negatively affected.

Industry consolidation may result in increased competition, which could result in a loss of customers or a reduction in revenue.

Some of our competitors have made or may make acquisitions or may enter into partnerships or other strategic relationships to offer more comprehensive services than they individually had offered or achieve greater economies of scale. In addition, new entrants not currently considered to be competitors may enter our market through acquisitions, partnerships or strategic relationships. We expect these trends to continue as companies attempt to strengthen or maintain their market positions. The potential entrants may have competitive advantages over us, such as greater name recognition, longer operating histories, more varied services and larger marketing budgets, as well as greater financial, technical and other resources. The companies resulting from combinations or that expand or vertically integrate their business to include the market that we address may create more compelling service offerings and may offer greater pricing flexibility than we can or may engage in business practices that make it more difficult for us to compete effectively, including on the basis of price, sales and marketing programs, technology or service functionality. These pressures could result in a substantial loss of our customers or a reduction in our revenue.

If we do not respond to technological changes or upgrade our websites and technology systems, our growth prospects and results of operations could be adversely affected.

To remain competitive, we must continue to enhance and improve the functionality and features of our websites and technology infrastructure. As a result, we will need to continue to improve and expand our hosting and network infrastructure and related software capabilities. These improvements may require greater levels of spending than we have experienced in the past. Without such improvements, our operations might suffer from unanticipated system disruptions, slow application performance or unreliable service levels, any of which could negatively affect our reputation and ability to attract and retain customers and contributors. Furthermore, in order to continue to attract and retain new customers, we are likely to incur expenses in connection with continuously updating and improving our user interface and experience. We may face significant delays in introducing new services, products and enhancements. If competitors introduce new products and services using new technologies or if new industry standards and practices emerge, our existing websites and our proprietary technology and systems may become obsolete or less competitive, and our business may be harmed. In addition, the expansion and improvement of our systems and infrastructure may require us to commit substantial financial, operational and technical resources, with no assurance that our business will improve.

Risks Related to the Securities

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes, Purchasers who are not “Major Investors” will grant a proxy to vote their underlying securities to the Intermediary or its affiliate, and, thus, will not have the right to vote on any matters coming before the shareholders of the Company for a vote. By granting this proxy you are giving up your right to vote on important matters, including significant corporate actions like mergers, amendments to our certificate of incorporation, a liquidation of our company and the election of our directors.

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes and by virtue of a provision contained in the Crowd Notes, if you are not a Major Investor, that is, an investor who has purchased at least $25,000 in principal amount of the Crowd Notes, you will grant a proxy to the Intermediary or its affiliate to vote the underlying securities that you will acquire upon conversion on all matters coming before the shareholders for a vote. The Intermediary does not have any fiduciary duty to you to vote shares in a manner that is in your best interests. Accordingly, the Intermediary may vote its proxy in a manner that may not be in the best interests of you as a security holder. For example, the Intermediary may vote the proxy in favor of an amendment to our charter that adversely affects the rights of the holders of your class of securities in order to allow for a new investment to occur where the new investor requires senior rights.

The Crowd Notes will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Crowd Notes may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the Crowd Notes. Because the Crowd Notes have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”), or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Crowd Notes have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be effected. The transfer of the Crowd Notes is also subject to the prior written approval of the Company, which may be given or withheld in the Company’s sole discretion. Limitations on the transfer of the Crowd Notes may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Crowd Notes in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws, leading to an absence of certain regulation applicable to the Company.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering, the Company or any Securities of the Company. The Company also has relied on exemptions from securities registration requirements under applicable state securities laws. Investors in the Company, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

No Guarantee of Return on Investment

There is no assurance that a Purchaser will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment. For this reason, each Purchaser should read the Form C/A and all Exhibits carefully and should consult with its own attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners.

Prior to the Offering, the Company's current owners of 20% or more beneficially own up to 94.12% of the Company. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Delaware law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

You will not have a vote or influence on the management of the Company.

All decisions with respect to the management of the Company will be made exclusively by the officers, directors, managers or employees of the Company. You, as a Purchaser of Crowd Notes, will have no ability to vote on issues of Company management and will not have the right or power to take part in the management of the company and will not be represented on the board of directors or managers of the Company. Accordingly, no person should purchase a Security unless he or she is willing to entrust all aspects of management to the Company.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Minimum Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. Your investment will not be accruing interest during this time and will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you.

There is no present market for the Securities, and we have arbitrarily set the price.

We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our net worth or prior earnings. We cannot assure you that the Securities could be resold by you at the Offering price or at any other price.

Purchasers will be unable to declare the Security in "default" and demand repayment.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities do not have any "default" provisions upon which the Purchasers will be able to demand repayment of their investment.

With respect to Purchasers who invest less than $25,000 in the Securities, the Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and such Purchasers have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may Such Purchasers demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

The Company may never elect to convert the Securities or undergo a liquidity event.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or, with respect to those Purchasers who invest less than $25,000, elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline. The Company has the right to end the Offering early.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Target Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. While you have the right to cancel your investment in the event the Company extends the Offering, if you choose to reconfirm your investment, your investment will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Target Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Target Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you. The Company may also end the Offering early; if the Offering reaches its target Offering amount after 30-calendar days but before the deadline, the Company can end the Offering with five business days' notice. This means your failure to participate in the Offering in a timely manner, may prevent you from being able to participate – it also means the Company may limit the amount of capital it can raise during the Offering by ending it early.

Affiliates of the Company, including officers, directors and existing shareholders of the Company, may invest in this Offering and their funds will be counted toward the Company achieving the Minimum Amount.

There is no restriction on affiliates of the Company, including its officers, directors and existing shareholders, investing in the Offering. As a result, it is possible that if the Company has raised some funds, but not reached the Minimum Amount, affiliates can contribute the balance so that there will be a closing. The Minimum Amount is typically intended to be a protection for investors and gives investors confidence that other investors, along with them, are sufficiently interested in the Offering and the Company and its prospects to make an investment of at least the Minimum Amount. By permitting affiliates to invest in the offering and make up any shortfall between what non-affiliate investors have invested and the Minimum Amount, this protection is largely eliminated. Investors should be aware that no funds other than their own and those of affiliates investing along with them may be invested in this Offering.

The Company has the right to conduct multiple closings during the Offering.

If the Company meets certain terms and conditions an intermediate close of the Offering can occur, which will allow the Company to draw down on a portion of the proceeds of the offering committed and captured during the relevant period. The Company may choose to continue the Offering thereafter. Purchasers should be mindful that this means they can make multiple investment commitments in the offering, which may be subject to different cancellation rights. For example, if an intermediate close occurs and later a material change occurs as the Offering continues, Purchasers previously closed upon will not have the right to re-confirm their investment as it will be deemed completed.

The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this Offering is not enough to sustain the Company's current business plan.

In order to achieve the Company's near and long-term goals, the Company will need to procure funds in addition to the amount raised in the Offering. There is no guarantee the Company will be able to raise such funds on acceptable terms or at all. If we are not able to raise sufficient capital in the future, we will not be able to execute our business plan, our continued operations will be in jeopardy and we may be forced to cease operations and sell or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of our remaining assets, which could cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of his or her investment.

In addition to the risks listed above, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by the management. It is not possible to foresee all risks that may affect us. Moreover, the Company cannot predict whether the Company will successfully effectuate the Company's current business plan. Each prospective Purchaser is encouraged to carefully analyze the risks and merits of an investment in the Securities and should take into consideration when making such analysis, among other, the Risk Factors discussed above.

THE SECURITIES OFFERED INVOLVE A HIGH DEGREE OF RISK AND MAY RESULT IN THE LOSS OF YOUR ENTIRE INVESTMENT. ANY PERSON CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF THESE SECURITIES SHOULD BE AWARE OF THESE AND OTHER FACTORS SET FORTH IN THIS FORM C/A AND SHOULD CONSULT WITH HIS OR HER LEGAL, TAX AND FINANCIAL ADVISORS PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT IN THE SECURITIES. THE SECURITIES SHOULD ONLY BE PURCHASED BY PERSONS WHO CAN AFFORD TO LOSE ALL OF THEIR INVESTMENT.

BUSINESS

Description of the Business

Founded in 2019 as CISAPP Online Private Limited, ConnectinSingle App (CiSApp) is a decentralized social network for users to connect with the right audiences on their own terms. The Company incorporated in the state of Delaware on September 1, 2020. The app is built with integrated blockchain technology for social interaction with friends, family, public groups, and professional networks within one unified platform. When a user signs up on the platform, they are asked to verify their identity through face data, which creates a unique digital identity stored on the decentralized network.

Additionally, content created on the app is linked to the blockchain to prevent multiple copies of the same content from existing, enabling original content creators to get appropriate credit for their work. Rather than selling user data for advertising revenue, CiSApp anticipates a model where its proprietary algorithm matches brands with content creators based on the communities (i.e., public groups) in which they are active on the platform.

Business Plan

CiSApp is currently pre-revenue. However, in the coming year the company plans to begin monetizing their platform. It aims to build a unique business model that will reward content creators and generate ad-revenues without selling users' private information. Companies that list with CiSApp for the promotion of genuine products and services will have their promotions directed to content creators based on communities through CiSApp's proprietary algorithm. Leads generated by the end of the campaign will then be billed and sent to companies and with a portion of revenue shared with content creators.

Operations

We are a pre-revenue company, and our primary expenses consist of product development and participation in a startup program. We do not anticipate generating revenue until Q1 2022.

The Company intends to achieve profitability in the next 12 months by:

The financial statements are an important part of this Form C/A and should be reviewed in their entirety. The financial statements of the Company are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

THE OFFERING AND THE SECURITIES

The Offering

The Company is offering up to $250,000 in principal amount of Crowd Notes. The Company is attempting to raise a minimum amount of $25,000 in this Offering (the "Minimum Amount"). The Company must receive commitments from investors in an amount totaling the Minimum Amount by October 4, 2021 (the "Offering Deadline") in order to receive any funds. If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the Minimum Amount by the Offering Deadline, no Securities will be sold in the Offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned to potential investors without interest or deductions. If the Company has received the Minimum Amount by the Offering Deadline, the Company has the right to extend the Offering Deadline at its discretion. The Company will accept investments in excess of the Minimum Amount up to $250,000 (the "Maximum Amount") and the additional Securities will be allocated on at the Company's discretion.

The price of the Securities does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value, and should not be considered indicative of the actual value of the Securities.

In order to purchase the Securities, you must make a commitment to purchase by completing the Subscription Agreement. Purchaser funds will be held in escrow with Evolve Bank & Trust until the Minimum Amount of investments is reached. Purchasers may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the Offering Deadline or the Closing, whichever comes first using the cancellation mechanism provided by the Intermediary. The Company will notify Purchasers when the Minimum Amount has been reached. If the Company reaches the Minimum Amount prior to the Offering Deadline, it may close the Offering at least five (5) days after reaching the Minimum Amount and providing notice to the Purchasers. If any material change (other than reaching the Minimum Amount) occurs related to the Offering prior to the Offering Deadline, the Company will provide notice to Purchasers and receive reconfirmations from Purchasers who have already made commitments. If a Purchaser does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the terms of the Offering, the Purchaser's investment commitment will be cancelled, and the committed funds will be returned without interest or deductions.

In the event that at least $75,000 in investments is committed and received by the escrow agent and more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline, the Company may, at the discretion of the Intermediary, conduct the first of multiple closings of the Offering (an "Intermediate Close") and withdraw funds from escrow, provided that all investors receive notice that an Intermediate Close will occur and funds will be released to the Company, at least five (5) business days prior to the Intermediate Close (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). Investors who committed on or before such notice will have until 48 hours before the Intermediate Close to cancel their investment commitment.

Thereafter, the Company may, at the discretion of the Intermediary, only conduct another Intermediate Close before the Offering Deadline if (i) the amount of investment commitments made and received in escrow exceeds $125,000 since the time of the last Intermediate Close, and (ii) more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline.

If a Purchaser does not cancel an investment commitment before an Intermediate Close or before the Offering Deadline, the funds will be released to the Company upon closing of the Offering, and the Purchaser will receive the Securities in exchange for his or her investment. Any Purchaser funds received after the initial closing will be released to the Company upon a subsequent closing, and the Purchaser will receive Securities in exchange for his or her investment as soon as practicable thereafter.

The Company has agreed to return all funds to investors in the event a Form C-W is ultimately filed in relation to this Offering, regardless of any subsequent closes.

Subscription Agreements are not binding on the Company until accepted by the Company, which reserves the right to reject, in whole or in part, in its sole and absolute discretion, any subscription. If the Company rejects all or a portion of any subscription, the applicable prospective Purchaser's funds will be returned without interest or deduction.

The price of the Securities was determined arbitrarily. The minimum amount that a Purchaser may invest in the Offering is $100.00.

The Offering is being made through MicroVenture Marketplace, Inc., the Intermediary. The following two fields set forth the compensation being paid in connection with the Offering.

Commission/Fees

The Company shall pay to the Intermediary at the conclusion of the Offering a fee consisting of five percent (5%) commission based on the amount of investments raised in the offering and paid upon disbursement of funds from escrow at the time of closing.

Stock, Warrants and Other Compensation

The intermediary will receive a number of Crowd Notes of the issuer that is equal to two percent (2%) of the total number of Crowd Notes sold by the issuer in the Offering.

Transfer Agent and Registrar

The Company will act as transfer agent and registrar for the Securities.

The Securities

We request that you please review our offering materials and the Crowd Note in conjunction with the following summary information.

Authorized Capitalization

See "CAPITALIZATION AND OWNERSHIP" above.

General

A Crowd Note is similar to a SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) security where an investor makes a cash investment in our company, but gets company stock at a later date in connection with a specific event. Although the security is called a Crowd Note, the Crowd Note is not a debt instrument. It is intended to be an alternative to a convertible note that is beneficial for both our company and you as an investor.

Events Triggering Conversion of Crowd Notes

If you are a Major Investor, which is defined as an investor who invests at least $25,000 in this offering, then the specified event upon which the Crowd Notes would convert into capital stock of our company is (i) a Qualified Equity Financing, which we define below, or (ii) a Corporate Transaction, which we define below, if instead of receiving two times (2X) the outstanding principal of your Crowd Note, your Crowd Note is converted immediately prior to the closing of the Corporate Transaction.

If you are not a Major Investor, then the Crowd Notes will only convert into capital stock of our company upon the earlier of (i) our company's election to convert your Crowd Note, including upon a Qualified Equity Financing if our company elects to convert your Crowd Note then, or (ii) a Corporate Transaction, if instead of receiving two times (2X) the outstanding principal of your Crowd Note, your Crowd Note is converted immediately prior to the closing of the Corporate Transaction.

Qualified Equity Financing

The Crowd Note defines "Qualified Equity Financing" as the first sale (or series of related sales) by us of our preferred stock following the closing of this offering from which we receive gross proceeds of not less than $1,000,000.00 (excluding the aggregate amount of securities converted into preferred stock in connection with such sale (or series of related sales)).

If the Crowd Note converts into equity in connection with a Qualified Equity Financing, then we will convert the Crowd Note into shares of our preferred stock that are issued in connection with the Qualified Equity Financing, which we refer to as Conversion Shares, equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the outstanding principal amount of the Crowd Note by the Conversion Price, which is defined below. The issuance of Conversion Shares will be on the same terms and conditions applicable to the stock sold in the Qualified Equity Financing; provided, however, that if you are not a Major Investor, you will receive shares of a shadow series, as we describe below, with certain limited rights. The Conversion Price applicable to a Qualified Equity Financing is the lower of:

(i) the product of (a) one minus any applicable Discount (which is 20%), and (b) the price paid per share for preferred stock by the investors in the Qualified Equity Financing, or

(ii) the quotient resulting from dividing (a) the Valuation Cap ($1.5 million) by (b) the total number of our shares of capital stock that are outstanding on a fully diluted basis (assuming for this purpose the exercise, exchange or conversion of all securities exercisable or exchangeable for, or convertible into, our capital stock), immediately prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Financing.

Any investor who is not a Major Investor will receive a shadow series of preferred stock upon conversion of such investor's Crowd Note. A shadow series is a series of our preferred stock that is identical in all respects to the shares of preferred stock issued in the Qualified Equity Financing (e.g., if the Company sells Series A Preferred Stock in the Qualified Equity Financing, the shadow series would be Series A-1 Preferred Stock), except that the liquidation preference per share of the shadow series shall equal the Conversion Price and the following additional differences will apply:

- (i) shadow series shareholders will grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the stockholders of our company (except for on matters required by law) by irrevocable proxy; and
- (ii) shadow series shareholders will receive quarterly business updates from the company through the Platform but will have no additional information or inspection rights (except with respect to such rights which are required by law).

Corporate Transaction and Corporate Transaction Payment

The Crowd Note defines “Corporate Transaction” as

- (i) the closing of the sale, transfer or other disposition of all or substantially all of our assets,
- (ii) the consummation of the merger or consolidation of our company with or into another entity (except a merger or consolidation in which the holders of capital stock of our company immediately prior to such merger or consolidation continue to hold at least 50% of the voting power of the capital stock of our company or the surviving or acquiring entity),
- (iii) the closing of the transfer (whether by merger, consolidation or otherwise), in one transaction or a series of related transactions, to a person or group of affiliated persons (other than an underwriter of our securities), of securities of our company if, after such closing, such person or group of affiliated persons would hold 50% or more of the outstanding voting stock of our company (or the surviving or acquiring entity), or
- (iv) the initial public offering, liquidation, dissolution or winding up of our company; provided, however, that a transaction shall not constitute a Corporate Transaction if its sole purpose is to change the state of our incorporation or to create a holding company that will be owned in substantially the same proportions by the persons who held our securities immediately prior to such transaction.

In the event of a Corporate Transaction (defined above), you will receive the higher value of (i) an amount equal to two times (2X) the price you paid for your Crowd Note (i.e., 2x your principal amount) or (ii) an amount that you would have been entitled to receive in such Corporate Transaction had this Crowd Note been converted in full immediately prior to the closing of the Corporate Transaction. If there are not enough funds to pay you and other Crowd Note investors in full, then proceeds from the respective transaction will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among the Crowd Note investors in proportion to their Purchase Price.

Termination of Crowd Note

The Crowd Notes will terminate upon the earlier of: (i) a conversion of the entire purchase price under the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares; or (ii) the payment of amounts due to the investor pursuant to a Corporate Transaction.

No Voting Rights, No Shareholders Agreement and No Anti-Dilution Rights

The Crowd Notes do not have any voting rights. Further, upon conversion of the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares, shadow series shareholders shall grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the members of the Company (except for on matters required by law) by irrevocable proxy.

The Company does not have any shareholder/equity holder agreements in place.

The Securities do not have anti-dilution rights.

Restrictions on Transfer

Any Securities sold pursuant to Regulation CF being offered may not be transferred by any Purchaser of such Securities during the one-year holding period beginning when the Securities were issued, unless such Securities are transferred: i) to the Company, ii) to an accredited investor, as defined by Rule 501(d) of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act, iii) as part of an IPO or iv) to a member of the family of the Investor or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the Purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the Investor or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the Investor or other similar circumstances. "Member of the family" as used herein means a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother / father / daughter / son / sister / brother-in-law, and includes adoptive relationships. Remember that although you may legally be able to transfer the Securities, you may not be able to find another party willing to purchase them.

In addition to the foregoing restrictions, prior to making any transfer of the Securities or any Securities into which they are convertible, such transferring Purchaser must either make such transfer pursuant to an effective registration statement filed with the SEC or provide the Company with an opinion of counsel stating that a registration statement is not necessary to effect such transfer.

Additional Transfer Restrictions

The Purchaser may not transfer the Securities or any Securities into which they are convertible to any of the Company's competitors, as determined by the Company in good faith. Any transfer of the Securities is also subject to the prior written approval of the Company, which may be given or withheld in the Company's sole discretion.

IPO Lock Up

Upon the event of an IPO, the capital stock into which the Securities are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be sold for up to 180 days following such IPO.

Other Material Terms

The Company does not have the right to repurchase the Crowd Note.

TAX MATTERS

EACH PROSPECTIVE INVESTOR SHOULD CONSULT WITH HIS OR HER OWN TAX AND ERISA ADVISOR AS TO THE PARTICULAR CONSEQUENCES TO THE INVESTOR OF THE PURCHASE, OWNERSHIP AND SALE OF THE INVESTOR'S SECURITIES, AS WELL AS POSSIBLE CHANGES IN THE TAX LAWS.

Opportunity

The widespread use of social media has changed the way people communicate. Now, we can instantly communicate and share ideas with friends, families, and strangers from around the world. However, this ability has produced some unintended consequences. Corporate entities control these social networks and often have a small group of people setting the rules of engagement on the platforms. This has led to many users (including content creators) being dissatisfied with how social media platforms deal with challenges such as misinformation, censorship, privacy, political neutrality, user control, and malicious activity. Decentralized social networks have emerged as a potential alternative to centralized social media networks.ⁱⁱ

Decentralized social networks offer several perceived advantages over traditional centralized social networks, such as more control, free speech, increased privacy, and economic neutrality. In a decentralized network, third-parties are unable to make modifications or delete content created by users. Decentralized networks also enable social media users to reduce/restrict personal information being shared. Additionally, decentralized networks enable social media users a choice to showcase information across multiple spaces. This has led to new business models shifting away from targeted advertising, in which original content creators can better monetize their work.ⁱⁱⁱ

Founded in 2019, Connect in Single App (CiSApp) is a decentralized social network for users to connect with the right audiences on their own terms. The app is built with integrated blockchain technology for social interaction with friends, family, public groups, and professional networks within one unified platform. When a user signs up on the platform, they are asked to verify their identity through face data, which creates a unique digital identity stored on the decentralized network. The aim is to remove fake profiles, bots, and fake messages. Moreover, it aims to help remove the anonymity of profiles which can enable cyberbullying.^{iv}

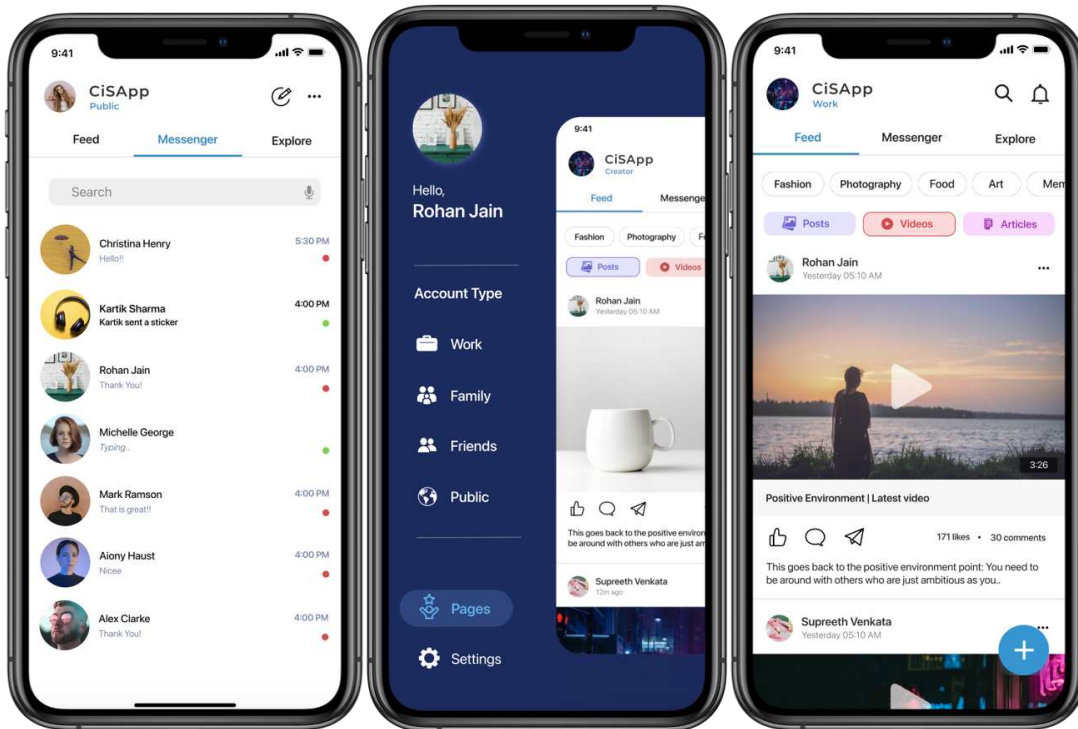

Additionally, content created on the app is linked to the blockchain to prevent multiple copies of the same content from existing, enabling original content creators to get appropriate credit for their work. Rather than selling user data for advertising revenue, CiSApp anticipates a model where its proprietary algorithm matches brands with content creators based on the communities (i.e., public groups) in which they are active on the platform.

Product

CiSApp is building a social network where users can split their profiles between private and public spaces. Users log in to one platform where they can tailor visible content for each group. CiSApp segments social groups into friends, family, public, and work categories. Within the public space, global content is made available through a standard newsfeed. Trending items are displayed near the top.

MICROVENTURES

Features

The app is currently in beta testing for Android with plans to release the full version in Q2 2021. Features currently available for the app include:

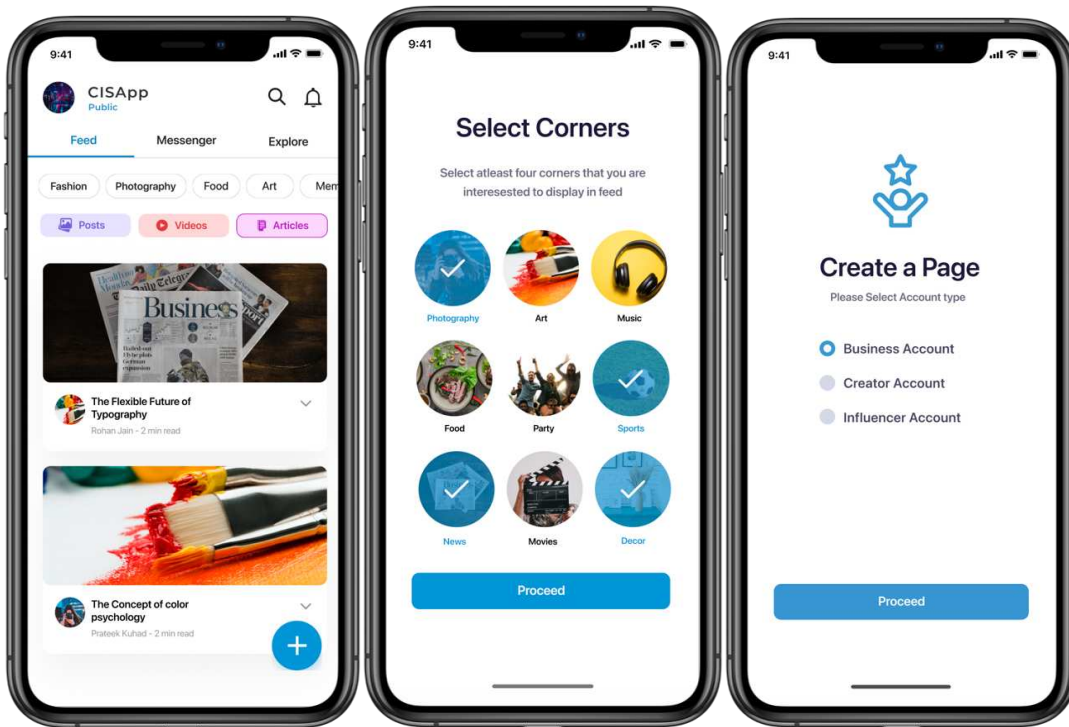

- Share photos and videos and receive updates about what's going on in the lives of your connections.
- Live messaging between individuals to share pictures, documents, voice messages, and videos.
- Create private chats through a built-in messenger feature.
- Send messages through a 'Scheduled Chat' feature, which enables users to send messages at a future time and date. For example, users can schedule birthday wishes for family members in advance.
- Follow hyperlinks and browse websites while remaining in CiSApp.
- Explore other users, brands, and small businesses through the built-in search feature.
- Sync phone contacts with the app to locate their friends' profiles.

The CiSApp is being designed with several key features in mind, namely:

- Privacy: CiSApp doesn't share user personal data for advertising or intrude on a user's personal privacy.
- No Fake Profiles: The CiSApp platform is being designed with verification functions for users to eliminate bots and fake accounts.
- Monetizing Content: Enable content producers to get paid for their own content, removing the middleman.
- Private Chat: Different than the chat feature above, the private chat gives users the ability to delete the chat at any time. Additionally, chat deletions can be scheduled for a future time (e.g., five minutes after messages are sent). Users can delete everything from their side, delete messages from the person they are speaking with, or delete all messages in the thread unilaterally. CiSApp plans to build the chat with SHA 256-bit encryption.

Blockchain

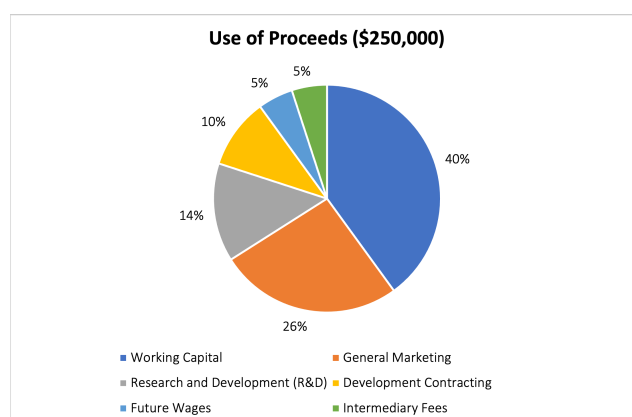

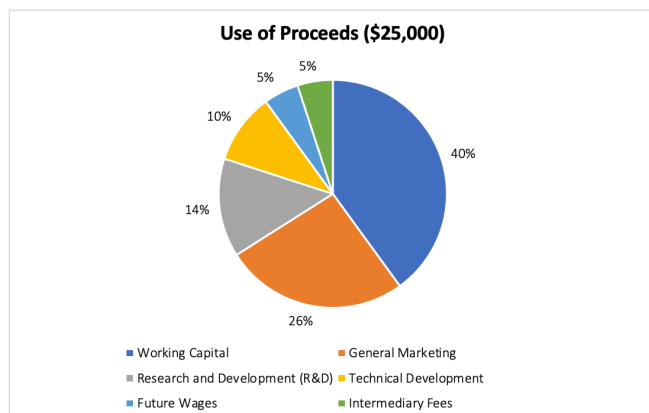

CiSApp runs on the blockchain. The company employs the use of blockchain technology with the goal of eliminating anonymity and providing users privacy and security. When a user signs up for the platform, a unique digital identity is created using facial data. The unique identities are then stored in a decentralized network. Additionally, blockchain technology is used to prevent a digital asset, such as content (posts, videos, and articles), from having duplicate copies. Each digital asset on the platform will be a non-fungible token (NFT). The content can be shared and distributed while also preserving ownership, making piracy more difficult through a transparent distributed-ledger technology (DLT) system. This enables CiSApp to maintain data integrity, allowing advertising agencies to target the right customers and content creators to receive proper monetization for their original content.

Use of Proceeds

CiSApp is looking to raise a minimum of $25,000 and a maximum of $250,000 in this raise. Funds will be used to fuel business growth by increasing working capital, general marketing to drive user acquisition, technology development for the platform, and hiring more engineers to execute on the company's product roadmap. The company plans to allocate the proceeds as follows:

Business Model

CiSApp is currently pre-revenue. However, in the coming year the company plans to begin monetizing their platform. It aims to build a unique business model that will reward content creators and generate ad-revenues without selling users' private information. Companies that list with CiSApp for the promotion of genuine products and services will have their promotions directed to content creators based on communities through CiSApp's proprietary algorithm. Leads generated by the end of the campaign will then be billed and sent to companies and with a portion of revenue shared with content creators.

USER TRACTION

CiSApp launched its app in August 2019. Since then, it has added 22,285 users to its platform, averaging ~1,311 signups per month. In 2020, the company averaged 1,514 signups per month, up from ~823 in 2019. To this point the company has relied little on marketing to drive user growth, with $550 in total marketing spend between 2019 and 2020. As of January 2021, the company had approximately 10,200 monthly active users (MAU) and 3,900 daily active users (DAU).

In September 2020, the company signed an agreement with Seed Round Capital, LLC (SRC), a Houston-based startup program. As part of the program, SRC provides advisory services to CiSApp and is helping it build out systems and processes, raise capital, and grow its business.

Additionally, the company participated in the Conscious Venture Labs accelerator program. In February CiSApp pitched its company as part of the program, which consisted of 40 companies from 16 states and 13 countries.^v

The largest expense item in 2019 was contracting, accounting for 56.56% of total expenses. Expenses on contracting were used to build out the company's mobile app for its beta release.

2020 Expenses

2019 Expenses

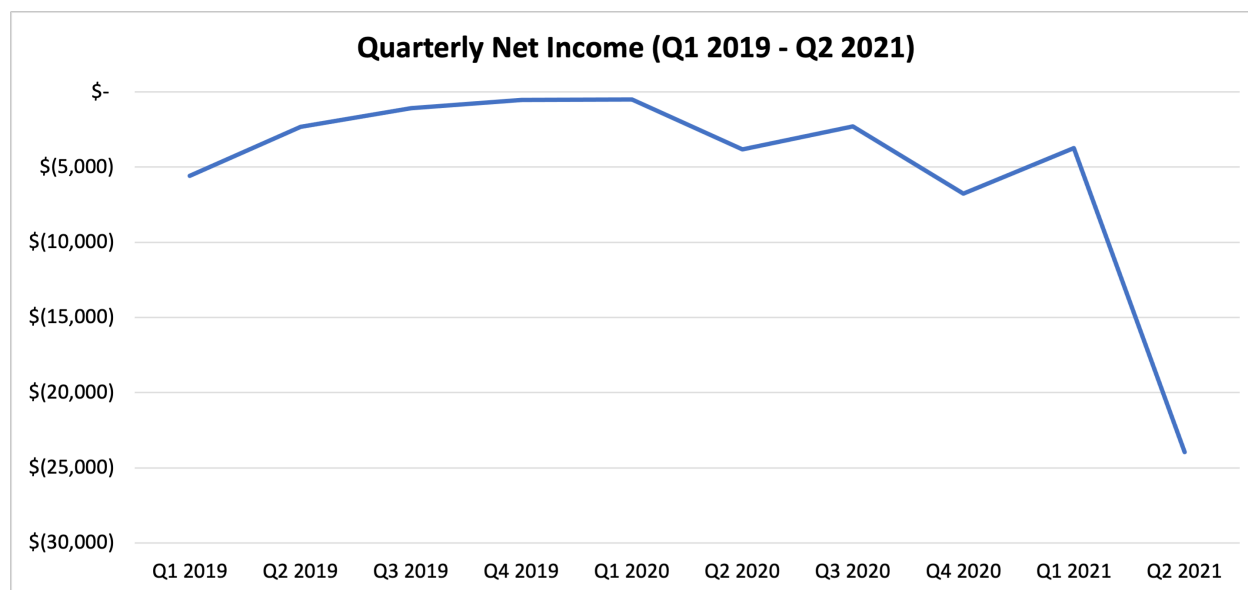

MICROVENTURES

Net Income

In 2021, through mid June, CISApp has incurred a net loss of about $27,000. In 2020, CiSApp incurred a net loss of $13,375 for the year, compared to a net loss of $9,530 in 2019. The change in net loss was driven entirely due to an increase in expenses.

As of mid-June 2021, CiSApp had approximately $62,000 in cash on its balance sheet. In 2021, through June, the company had an average monthly burn rate of $4,188.

INDUSTRY AND MARKET ANALYSIS

Social Media

According to IBISWorld, the U.S. social networking sites market was valued at $52.7 billion in 2020. In 2020 alone, the market grew 16.8%. From 2015 to 2020, the social networking sites market grew at an annualized rate of 25.7%. IBISWorld notes that the social networking sites market grew faster than both the overall economy and the technology sector. The research firm also notes that the percentage of services conducted online represents a shift in consumer attitudes toward online services, including social networks. Because of this, social networking sites benefit from an increasing number of advertisements and measurable purchases from such advertisements. The percentage of services conducted online is expected to rise in 2020, representing a potential opportunity for the industry.^{vi}

In 2019, 79% of the U.S. population had at least one social media profile with 270 million social media users for the year, representing a 2% increase from the previous year.^{vii} India and China saw the highest absolute country user growth in the past year, adding over 130 million and 15 million new social media users, respectively. Chad (252%) and Guinea-Bissau (89%) exhibited the fastest year-over-year social media growth. Among internet users aged 16 to 64, 97% visited or used a social network or messaging service in January 2020.^{viii} The average social media user now spends 2 hours and 24 minutes each day on a social platform, equating to approximately 20.84% of their total internet time.^{ix}

Blockchain Social Media

According to the Blockchain Council, blockchain technology could represent a significant opportunity for social media. Currently, popular social media platforms have almost complete control over user data and track user activity. The platforms then sell the aggregated information to the highest bidder for targeting and advertising purposes. Since many of the main social media platforms (e.g., Facebook, Twitter, etc.) are centralized, they have the potential to exploit user content. In comparison, blockchain-based social media platforms are effectively decentralized and can ensure greater privacy and allow users to express themselves without censorship. Distributed technology in social media can also enable users to make transactions privately as only the sender and receiver know about the transaction's contents.^x

Apart from security and privacy, content producers on social media platforms lose a significant amount of money due to the involvement of third-party intermediaries. Blockchain-based social media platforms can allow users to have more control over where and how their content can be distributed. This distribution capability could give creators higher potential to generate profit.^{xi}

App Spending

In 2020, consumers spent nearly $111 billion globally on in-app purchases, subscriptions, and premium apps across both Google Play and Apple's App Store, up by 30.2% year-over-year. Broken out, Apple's App Store recorded spending of $72.3 billion, and Google Play generated $38.6 billion, respectively. In-app spending growth in 2020 was fueled by increased spending on education, employment, and entertainment on mobile devices. In the App Store, the game and entertainment categories captured the most consumer spend, compared with social apps on Google Play, which grew by 71.4% year-over-year to $1.2 billion. According to Sensor Tower, the change in consumer behavior toward more in-app spending in 2020 – largely due to the pandemic – may become permanent, which could enable mobile apps to continue their stretch of impressive growth.^{xii}

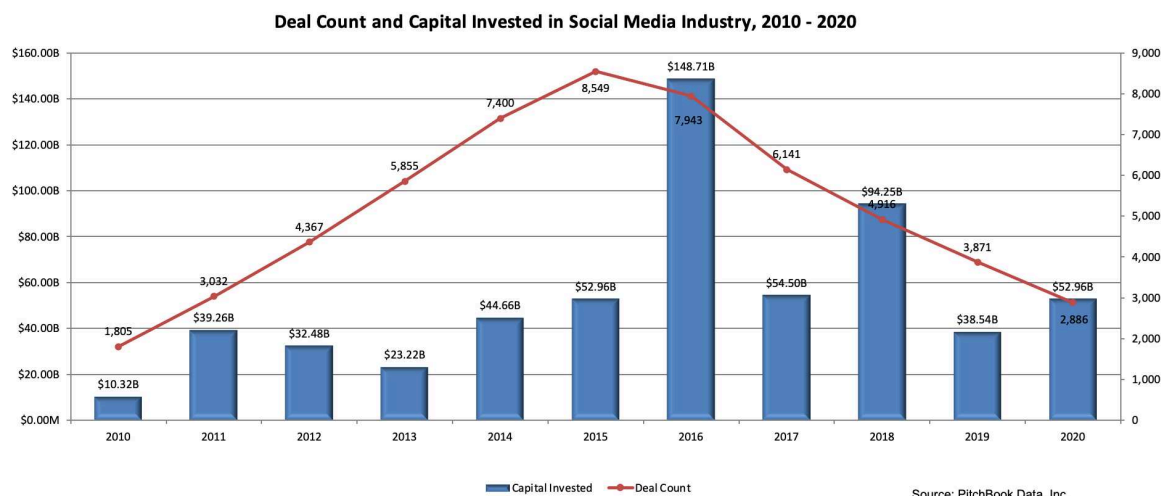

MICROVENTURES

In 2020, the social media industry received $52.95 billion in venture capital investment across 2,886 deals.

Other notable industry funding information includes the following points:^{xiii}

- There were 56,765 deals completed in the social media industry between 2010 and 2020
- Approximately $592 billion invested in the social media industry between 2010 and 2020
- Median pre-money valuation of $7 million in 2020, down from a 10-year high of $8.5 million in 2019
- Median post-money valuation of $10.05 million in 2020, down from a 10-year high of $12.48 million in 2019
- Median deal size of $1.3 million in 2020, tying 2018 for a record high between 2010 and 2020

Diaspora: Founded in 2010, Diaspora is a nonprofit, user-owned, distributed social network. It consists of a group of independently owned nodes that interoperate to form the network. The Diaspora network leverages servers (called pods) throughout the world, which contain the data of users who have chosen to register with it. These pods communicate with each other enabling users across the network to communicate freely with their contacts. Users do not need to be in the same pod as their contacts to communicate with them. Unlike some other social media platforms, Diaspora enables users to act anonymously. Users can also segment their social circles, enabling them to only share posts, events, etc., with specific groups at a time. Diaspora runs on open-source software, enabling third-parties to take the source code and change it to meet their needs, and thereby add to the overall network.^{xiv}

Friendica: Launched in 2010, Friendica is software used to create a distributed social network. It is developed by different people from across the world in their spare time. There is no corporation or any foundation behind Friendica. It acts as a communication hub that can communicate across Friendica servers and natively to servers using the Diaspora protocol (Diaspora and Hubzilla) and the OStatus protocol used by GNU Social. On the network, users can post content, share photos, organize events, and create profiles. Profiles can contain both public and private content, with private content only available to specific users. Users can use accounts of third-party networks to read and post content with the use of Friendica. It currently supports bidirectionally (reading and posting) for Twitter, App.Net, and Mail (via IMAP and SMTP). Additionally, Friendica supports content posting to networks such as Buffer, Dreamwidth, Tumblr, and Wordpress.^{xv}

Minds: Minds was started in 2011 with the goal of bringing a free, open-source, and sustainable social network to the world. Users can post videos, blogs, images, and statuses and message or video chat with friends or groups on the decentralized platform. To encourage user participation, users can earn crypto tokens for their contributions to the network.^{xvi} The tokens can then be used to boost a user's channel, content, or audience reach. Content creators can also receive direct payments in USD, Bitcoin, or Ether from their fans.^{xvii} Minds has over three million users. In June 2017, Minds raised $7.4 million through a regulation crowdfunding raise on WeFunder. Additionally, the company raised $6 million in Series A funding from Medici Ventures.^{xviii}

Sapien

Sapien: Founded in 2016, Sapien is a web3 social network built on the Ethereum blockchain. The Sapien platform has been built for collaborative cooperation, and rules are set and enforced at the community level. Users of the platform can stake and receive tokenized rewards for creating content, leaving comments, and voting on posts. Sapien uses this as a mechanism for content creators to monetize their content without interference from a central authority. Eventually, the company plans to enable users to choose whether they want to see advertisements or share aspects of their personal data, receiving rewards as a result.^{xix} In March 2018, the company raised $11.7 million in an initial coin offering.^{xx}

Steemit: Founded in 2016, Steemit is a blockchain-based blogging and social media website that rewards its users with the cryptocurrency STEEM for publishing and curating content. Steemit uses three tokens on its blockchain, STEEM, STEEM POWER (SP), and SBD (Steem Dollars). STEEM is the basic cryptocurrency of the blockchain and can be earned by posting, commenting, or upvoting content on the platform. SP represents influence on the platform; the more SP a user has, the more voting power they have. Lastly, SBD was designed to have a one-to-one parity with USD and can be earned as a reward. In addition to creating valuable content, users on the platform can earn STEEM by performing freelance work, taking part in contests and challenges, and leasing out STEEM to other users. Users on the platform can subscribe to a variety of communities with different topics for each community.^{xxi} In February 2020, Steemit was sold to TRON for an undisclosed amount.^{xxii}

No administrator or arbitrator shall have the power or authority to waive, modify, or fail to enforce this paragraph, and any attempt to do so, whether by rule, policy, and arbitration decision or otherwise, shall be invalid and unenforceable. Any challenge to the validity of this paragraph shall be determined exclusively by a court and not by the administrator or any arbitrator. If this paragraph shall be deemed unenforceable, then any proceeding in the nature of a class action shall be handled in court, not in arbitration.

Webinar Transcript

Brett Andrews: Hey everybody, this is Brett Andrews with MicroVentures. Thank you all for joining us for the webinar today. Today, we're going to be hearing from CiSApp, a company building a decentralized social network on the blockchain. We are joined today by their co-founder and CEO, Imran Palem. Imran co-founded the company and has served as CEO since the company's inception. Before co-founding CiSApp, he wrote two fiction novels. Last Ranker and Cricket Betting. He is currently in his final years of studies at the Lovely Professional University, where he's working toward his undergraduate degree. Imran is a blockchain enthusiast and is passionate about tech and anything related to engineering and research.

Brett Andrews: We're also joined by their co-founder and COO Bhargav Varma. Bhargav co-founded the company and has been serving as COO since its inception. Holds a Bachelor of Technology, electronics and communications engineering degree from the Lovely Professional University. He is passionate about the international business and development. Lastly, we're joined by their advisor, Austin Hill. Austin serves as an advisor and investor in the company. Austin is a serial entrepreneur, who has started companies in distribution, contracting, real estate and consumer packaged goods. Before his entrepreneurial endeavors, he deployed to Iraq as an army officer and later worked as an outside sales engineer at a Fortune 50 company. He was one of the winners of Rice's inaugural Veterans Business Battle business plan competition and is now an active investor in the competition through Beachhead investments and helps facilitate the Houston Entrepreneurs' Organization accelerator program. He holds an MBA with honors from the University of Texas at Austin's McCombs School of Business and an engineering degree with honors from the United States Military Academy at West Point. How are you guys doing today?

Austin Hill: Great, thanks for having us.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. Great. Thanks for joining me here today and sharing a little bit more about the company. Real quick, before we get started, just to let people tuning in know what the format is going to be. So, we're going to spend about 10 or 15 minutes or rather, the CiSApp team is going to spend about 10 or 15 minutes going through the pitch deck. Hopefully you can see that the front side with the logo on your screen. So, they're going to introduce us all to the company, and then when we get to the end of that presentation, they're going to kick it back to me and we'll do a little bit of Q and A. So, with that, guys, I'll let you take it away and introduce everyone to CiSApp.

Bhargav Varma: Hey, thanks for the wonderful introduction. Hello guys, I'm Bhargav Varma, co-founder of CiSApp. It is my pleasure to introduce CiSApp, a blockchain based social media platform, that's built on privacy and transparency at its core. Before getting into further details about CiSApp, I'd like to share the journey and inception of the idea behind CiSApp. CiSApp means connect in single application. We started with a vision to provide social media users a safe and secure platform for networking in quarter one of 2019. Worked on ideas and for a while surveyed among the communities. So, about the problems they face with handling social media platforms.

Bhargav Varma: And we figured out that privacy and transparency are the least focused in current social media platforms. We worked on the development process and came up with CiS, Connect in Single Application, a blockchain based social network, a one-stop platform for social and business networking, which basically depicts Facebook, Insta, with LinkedIn. We provided users a platform where they could segregate connections in private and public spaces.

Bhargav Varma: Well, the big question is, how will CiSApp stand out in the social media industry? Will we ever be able to make room for CiSApp? CiSApp is a one-stop social media platform that considers all the challenges of social media, to create a solution that takes the industry to the next level, by bringing together the power and security off of blockchain that recognizes the importance of creating a truly safe environment for content creators. We provide segregated safe spaces where they can connect with the right set of people. And users need healthy interactions.

Bhargav Varma: CiSApp combines blockchain with a unique business model that removes anonymous and rewards authentic content creators. Many of the issues with currently existing social media are privacy based, and anonymity is a privilege strongly misused by trolls and untoward elements. And this spoils the experience for users and content creators alike. And social media is sustained by one thing, and one thing only, which is content. This makes content creators a precious commodity for every social media platform. Content creators also face immense pressure through trolling, harassment and cyberbullying, and all enabled by a social media environment where malicious elements can get away with anything under the use and comfort of anonymity.

Bhargav Varma: As massive data breaches like Cambridge Analytica scandal have revealed, social media is also in dire need for better privacy and data protection technology. And we are aware of the scandals in the internet industry from recent times. We also see a great deal of mental health issues. So, in our youth, resulting from misuse of anonymity on the social media. In August 2017, fake news was reported to have taken over the mainstream media, reported by the BBC. In 2018, 59% of US teens have been bullied or harassed online. In 2020, the hate speech scandal and how trolls have made internet a toxic place. 94% of kids in the US have access to internet, and about 37% of the young people have been bullied once online. There is a dire need for alternatives in the social media industry, which offer users and content creators a better experience.

Bhargav Varma: The available market is huge, with 3.8 billion plus active users. Our targeted users are in the age group of 18 to 40 years, and $110 billion are spent on advertising through social media. Well, but the initial market penetration, we strategize in the Indian sub-continent. Well, we present you the solution, what we call CiSApp. CiSApp is a de-centralized social network. We use blockchain technology.

Bhargav Varma: And we have implemented encryption and decryption. All peer-to-peer conversations are secured with SHA-256 bit, meaning it allows high level of security and ensuring a rich communication experience. And users can connect with friends, family, colleagues, or any audience located in any part of the world via different channels on our platform. We'd rather call CiSApp a one-stop platform with privacy and security. Having said that, all the profiles in CiSApp are fully verified and validated, resulting in genuine accounts across the platform, and any news propagated over the network is authenticated. And we have built a troll free environment, with a reward system for content creators, which will ensure authentic content all over the platform. Our policy is to create a system for real interactions using real and verified profiles.

- Bhargav Varma: We have introduced account spaces, a feature which will enable the user to segregate connections based on four categories, of both family, friends, and public. And we have a variety of chat options like the private and scheduled chat. And in private chat option, it'll allow user to send self-destructive messages and these tasks are completely confidential. They are restricted to the two ends of the conversation. Schedule chat option, it'll enable a user to schedule a message to a specific date and time. And these messages get auto delivered, even if the user is disconnected from the internet.
- Bhargav Varma: CiSApp is a unique social media platform where users get authentic content and have complete control over their interactions with other users, influencers, or even brands. Content creators are rewarded for creating authentic and engaging content. At CiSApp, all the stakeholders can feel safe, feel free, and rewarded. By using blockchain technology, we plan to create a private and secure social media environment, employing strong user verification for a troll-free experience. CiSApp is all set to be the unique next gen social media platform where the real stuff happens.
- Bhargav Varma: We launched our pilot on August 4th, 2019 in Android for feedback. And we have experienced a traffic of 6,000 downloads without any marketing costs. Initially, we had saved users organically and we received critical feedback on our beta version, and its user interface and design. So, we pivoted the interface and we worked in making our application a better experience for our users with a few additional features. And we relaunched it in April 2020, in beta, with updated designs and interface in Android. And we strategically penetrated into the market with memes and Instagram, and with 15,000 users, with little to no money spent on user acquisition. We also collaborated with content creators to onboard them to CiSApp, as a strategy to penetrate into the market.
- Bhargav Varma: In the current social media platforms, it's the content creators that enable these platforms gain huge popularity and revenue worth millions. By designing the current social networks, they collect and track users data. Data which is incredibly valuable is rather sold out to the highest bidder in advertising forms. And having recognized this problem, we came up with a new age business model, which enables our content creators to monetize their content.
- Bhargav Varma: Our business model is focused on small businesses run by creative users, like content creators and influencers that build a large network. Companies can list with CiSApp for promotion of genuine products and services, and that algorithm directs it to the relevant content creators, based on the communities in CiSApp. Content creators or influencers create a post promoting the listed company and based on the leads and number of impressions made through the post, they are billed and sent to the companies. Companies pay CiSApp for promotions on our platform, and we share a portion of revenue with relevant content creators.
- Bhargav Varma: In fact, the promotions are made by the content creators and not CiSApp. Funds are primarily planned to use for technical development and the remainder is used to market the application. And we have already raised $15,000 from Seed Round Capital, a Houston-based micro-investment firm. Our goals for the next 12 months is to provide a better social media experience in CiSApp, and reach a million user base in the next 12 months.
- Bhargav Varma: CiSApp has a team of young passionate and highly skilled core members. I and my co-founder, Imran, share the same university. We met at Lovely Professional University, and we were roommates at the time when the idea to build CiSApp started. So, we share a great camaraderie, and always wanted to do something really big. We thought big, we dreamt and eventually made CiSApp what it is today. I have a Bachelor of Technology from Lovely Professional University, and I have been working on entrepreneurial finances and business operations at CiSApp, since its inception. Imran, a great thoughtful leader, more passionate on building things, a blockchain enthusiast. And he has been working on a blockchain and technical development of CiSApp, since its inception.

Bhargav Varma: Rounding with the team, we have Rohit, a certified chartered accountant. He has an experience of managing finances for more than 30 plus companies in his career, and he looks after the financial side of CiSApp. And Jatin, our lead developer, who's a phenomenal coder. He has over four plus years of experience in the industry. Also, he had his own entrepreneurial journey before joining CiSApp. Bhaswati looks after the admin and operations at CiSApp, an MBA graduate, who's predominantly both in managerial positions earlier, and she has over six plus years of experience in the industry. Our business advisors are serial entrepreneurs, who have founded multiple startups and have over 50 plus years of experience in the industry. Brad Jenkins serves as a board member, investor and advisor in the company. He's a serial entrepreneur, turned a startup advisor, and angel investor. He personally invested in over a dozen startups and is an active angel investor. He's a graduate from Texas A&M, and holds a BBA in marketing with extensive computer science coursework. Austin Hill serves as an advisor and investor in the company.

Bhargav Varma: Austin Hill servers as an advisor and investor in the company. Austin is a serial entrepreneur who has started companies in distribution, contracting, real estate and consumer packaged goods. Before his entrepreneurial journey, he deployed to Iraq as an army officer and later worked as a sales engineer at a Fortune 50 company. Austin holds an MBA with honors from university of Texas at McCombs Business School. Hesham serves as our technical advisor. Hesham is an angel investor, a mentor and sits as a board member on many companies. He holds an MBA from Edinburgh business school.

Bhargav Varma: We are currently working on a developing CiSApp across all platforms, and we are gearing up for an alpha launch in a quarter 2, 2021, with features like account spaces, private and scheduled chat and a few more. We have planned updates this year, where we are currently working to update with additional features like de-centralized messenger, rewards, content monetization, and many more exciting features lined up. A few notable recognitions. CiSApp was ranked at 18 out of 47, as best breakout applications by AppSamurai. And CiSApp has participated in a recently concluded accelerator program by Conscious Venture Labs. CiSApp is proud to have Seed Round Capital as our partners, and has participated in their tech startup program in 2020. Well, to summarize, I'd say CiSApp is a blockchain based social network, a one-stop platform which is transparent, where the value of good contents goes right back into the community. And CiSApp cultivates creation, sharing, discovery and promotion of content on social media platforms, by real users, not bots or fake accounts. We do it through sustaining economy of ideas. Thanks for the time.

Brett Andrews: Thanks Bhargav, that was very well done. I appreciate you taking that time there. So, just so people understand the current status of the product, you mentioned that you're planning to launch through Android and iOS globally in Q2 of this year. Currently, is the app only accessible as a web based application?

Bhargav Varma: I mean, earlier we have it on Android in the beta version, but currently we are pulling it out from the Google Play Store, as we have updated it with a new user interface and designs, and we're about to launch it in alpha, as an invite-only social media application, initially. So maybe you can expect it in the alpha launch maybe by the end of April.

Brett Andrews: Got it. So, yeah. I think it's important for people to understand, you've gotten to the North of 20,000 users currently, without having access through the app store. I think that's very impressive from my perspective. So one of the other -

Austin Hill: Sorry to jump in here.

Austin Hill: I mean, big part of the raise is going to be used to... They're building out the backend on Flutter, which will work on basically any iOS-

Bhargav Varma: Any platform, be it Android or iOS. We are working on developing the application across all platforms, on the Android mobile and iOS mobiles app.

Brett Andrews: Got it.

Austin Hill: That was big decision for us, was going from... We were trying to decide if they wanted to go... Just continue building out the Android thing. But it made more sense to just kind of start over from scratch and rebuild the same thing on Flutter, to be able to use it across all the platforms. Just kind of future-proofing it.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. Now, I think that makes a lot of sense, and I think that, again the point, but I think it needs to be made clear is that's obviously a huge pool of users who are maybe mobile only, that you haven't had a real chance to crack into it yet, that you still had some pretty strong growth so far. One of the other topics I wanted to touch on, you mentioned some of the statistics about the bullying that we've seen on a lot of these applications and you guys are going through a user verification process, which I think is really critical for an application like this. Can you talk a little bit about how you do that verification?

Imran Palem: Yeah. Thanks for the question Brett, actually when a user register into our platform, we collect his face data and we convert those face data into a unique identifier and we store that unique digital ID into a password. So that's for one time when you get registered, you have your own unique ID. So, you can't be multiplied, you can't have two or more accounts in the platform.

Brett Andrews: Right. And then that's where it ties into the blockchain and the anonymity, correct?

Imran Palem: Yeah.

Brett Andrews: Got it.

Bhargav Varma: So as blockchain is a distributed ledger, so it is immutable. So, you can't remove that ID and do some malpractice.

Brett Andrews: Got it. And then I guess on that point, how do users go about logging in. I would guess, when you've got... Most of other applications that I've used, where it is blockchain-based obviously password protection is fairly critical. Do you guys have a two step verification process or how do users go about logging in once they've got their identifier?

- Imran Palem: Yeah. I mean, the initial steps are pretty same. You put your mobile number and you get OLTP and you enter the details. Everything is same. But our verification processes, we verify your face data. I mean, we put the landmarks in your face, we verify the data and we do not store your face data, but rather we store that unique digital identity that is created through your face data.
- Brett Andrews: Understood. And I want to talk a little bit about what you guys have seen so far. So, what are the use cases... Bhargav walked us through how you sort of can segregate your different networks between family, work, public feed and private. With the current users that you guys have had, what is the most frequent use case you've seen occurring currently on the platform?
- Imran Palem: Yeah. I mean, people love about this spaces, public, family, friends and work, because here we are dividing into two spaces, one is public space, and one is private space. Public space, it is public and work. I mean, you can connect with everyone. Anyone can see your account, anyone can follow you. But friends and family, it is restricted to only the private connections. If you want to connect with family or friends, they need to have your mobile number on their phone. That's how they can add your connection. Because some random person cannot connect with your family. You need to be a family member in order to connect with them.
- Brett Andrews: Understood. Yeah, I think that's a very cool feature, because there's times where depending on... Pick your preferred social network, where all I really want to do is interact with family, and there's a lot of noise that's occurring outside of that, which isn't exactly the reason that I may be logging in. So, I like the fact that you can sort of separate those two and kind of pop in and out, depending on what you're trying to accomplish.
- Austin Hill: Yeah. I thought this was great. I mean, I was in undergrad when Facebook came out, so 2004 and I was on it, it was super cool. It was only other students at other colleges, and gradually when I started getting friend requests from my grandma and stuff, I was like, "Man, I really got to tone back the stuff I'm posting on there." And it really kind of put a damper on it. The idea of having like a public feed, that you really wouldn't mind anybody seeing stuff and having like a private one, it's just stuff I want to share with my friends and family, but it's nice to have it all in one spot. I think it's great that the user interface and stuff that they've built too, the progression of that, it looks... Really, really proud of these guys, what they've been able to build.
- Brett Andrews: Yeah. No, that's a great point. I'm not sure if my grandmother really wants to see what one of my college friends has to say. It's probably good to keep that walled off to some extent. I definitely agree there.
- Bhargav Varma: Yeah. And also to add what Imran has mentioned before, not only with the private space, in public space, it enables user to connect among all the professional contacts, be it his work colleagues or ex-employed colleagues. So, he gets that privilege to connect with all the professional people across globe. I mean, he can connect with anybody all over the world. When we talked about the public space, which is public and work free.
- Brett Andrews: Yeah. I mean, you're really taking all the best aspects of the various platforms or rolling them into one place, where I'm not going to have to change in and out of apps.

Bhargav Varma: Yeah, exactly.

Brett Andrews: It's aggregated, it's very unique to that.

Austin Hill: It's one place to log in and check everything. My LinkedIn is just... It's a black hole now of startups looking for funding and stuff, but it's so overwhelming. And that, being able to just go to one spot and then you can post your work stuff there on one thing, and then you can talk to your family, baby pictures, all that stuff, and then you can have your public profile, so just someone is trying to look you up. So, yeah, I think it's an awesome idea, and that's what the CIS, connect in singles. So, it's single app-

Bhargav Varma: It's a one-stop social media ecosystem.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. No, I totally agree, and I can second the LinkedIn experience, Austin. I've got the same thing going on. So then, on the user acquisition side, I wanted to touch a little bit more on that. I think Bhargav explained a little bit about how you guys, you've basically built this user base with no marketing budget at all. You touched a little bit on the, I guess the main strategy that you employ, but can you share a little bit more that, and I guess as an addendum, share a little bit more about... I believe that right now the platform is very focused on the Indian market. Kind of talk about how you think about the expansion of the platform geographically.

Bhargav Varma: Yeah. I mean, if you talk about any social network, any social media is sustained only, only due to the content, and content creators, they build a large network in all social media channels. I mean, without that engaging content in the social media, no user will spend time accessing new social network. So, we just wanted to reward content creators. And in that thought process, we just wanted to bring that advertising through the content creators. In fact, we have tried our business model in current prevailing social media platforms, where we talk with a few content creators basically who are concentrated on posting memes through their pages on, be it Instagram or Facebook. So, we just collaborated with a few content creators, and the created a post which is relevant to today's audiences' point of view.

Bhargav Varma: I mean, they created content promoting our application and they posted it through their handle. So, due to which, it's kind of an influencer marketing, so when we generate targeted advertisements, it doesn't make sense whether the user is really interested in that product or not. So, it's the same way we have the marketer product. Initially, we just collaborated with content creators, and in fact, that is a business model in CiSApp.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. I think that's super scrappy and innovative way of driving user adoption when you're working on a shoestring budget. So, I have to applaud you for that.

Austin Hill: We're on weekly calls with these guys and as we're kind of doing this fundraising round, they're actively reaching out to content creators in their local market, in India, and kind of getting them set up and ready to go once the app is launched. And it has all these different accounts making memes and stuff, at least on Instagram, so I'm familiar with. And they are kind of cherry picking the best ones of those to kind of jump ship or send people over there, because the content creators, they'll get compensated directly through the app, without having to go through an affiliate or through the company. Instagram influencers are getting paid, via Instagram, they're getting paid through companies. But with CiSApp, it acts as the intermediary between the two, which is pretty cool. And I've seen a lot of other micro-influencer type startups and stuff, and this one kind of encapsulates that idea as well.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. So, I did want to drill down into that revenue model a little bit more. So maybe Bhargav, if you don't mind flipping to that slide real quick.

Bhargav Varma: Yeah, sure.

Brett Andrews: Just maybe explain, just in case people want a little more clarity, kind of how this is working. So, you've talked a lot about how you're sort of an intermediary between the content creator and how they monetize. Can you just share a little bit more on how the money flows, so users are paying for subscriptions to certain content creators, I guess? Can you just share a little bit more about how the money flows and I guess the revenue split that occurs between you and the folks creating the content?

Bhargav Varma: Yeah, sure. I mean, to just summarize the entire business flow long story in short, content creators are rewarded for creating authentic and engaging content. And brands get genuine leads through ads targeted via user behavior only, and without breaching user's privacy. So basically, when a lead company is listed with CiSApp, that company's product or service will be directed to relevant content creator. So, we just play a mediator between the company and advertiser, who are basically the content creators. And that particular relevant content will be generated in our social media platform. The impressions for leads generated are sent to the companies, and as per the lead, organic impressions made, companies will be paying CiSApp.

Bhargav Varma: So, whatever the revenue we get, we share a portion of our revenue with relevant content creators. Again, over here we have two different options basically. If the content is being provided by the company, then we share 30% of our revenue with relevant content creators, and micro-influencers. If in case the content is prepared by the content creators or influencers, then they take the major part of the revenue and we take a smaller portion of the revenue. So, companies will be paying directly to CiSApp, and we share a portion of the revenue through our payment gateway.

Brett Andrews: Got it. So, you guys are handling the distribution of funds then?

Bhargav Varma: Yeah. Yeah. Everything will be handled by a CiSApp, as an organization.

Brett Andrews: Understood. That's definitely an important place to be in the value chain. So, last couple of questions here, which they sort of go hand in hand. So, the first one is just, again, sort of touching on the status. So, do you have these content creators that you've spoken to, that are lined up and ready to go? You're just waiting for the mobile application to roll out and then you'll be Bhargav Varma: Yes, exactly.

Brett Andrews: That's right?

Bhargav Varma: Yeah. Yeah. That's right.

Brett Andrews: Understood. And so then-

Bhargav Varma: Basically they belong to different communities. In CiSApp, we have this feature called corners, through which we'll be segregating communities CiSApp. Like for example, fashion, all fashion content creators, or influencers will go into fashion community. Whereas if you have a sports or entertainment channels, they'll be going to sports or entertainment community. So likewise, through a feature called corners, we have segregated communities in CiSApp. So yeah, we have covered around 23 communities.

Brett Andrews: Understood. And where are these, most of these content creators located? Are they in India as well?

Bhargav Varma: Yeah. Yeah. 70% of the content creators are from India and the rest 30 are from the rest of the world. And basically, the idea to penetrate in the Indian market first is that demographically it is the larger market. And having said that, both me and Imran, we have been building this entire application with taking people's feedback. The feedback we received, it's from India. Basically, 70% of the users, the current 20,000 users are from India. So, we are building the application in such a way that based on the feedback we receive from the people, we are building the network. So basically, CiSApp is people's network. That's the entire reason why we have collaborated with majorly Indian content creators.

Austin Hill: Yeah. I mean, you can get traction in India. It's an extremely competitive market for social media. And then there's also a lot of stuff going on with the Indian government and Facebook and Twitter. I mean, I read an article a couple of weeks ago, they're actually putting those employees in jail. So, it's a very good time for them to... I think the app itself is relevant as a whole kind of globally, but being in the Indian market and focusing on that... When it comes time to expand, I think they'll be set to go. But they've got enough stuff going on, I think they're trying to... They come from the world, boiling part of the ocean.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. Well, it's a big piece of the ocean. I think it's important for people to remember that.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. So then I guess last thing I wanted to touch on and Austin mentioned a little bit of it, was... Again, the purpose of this webinar is to obviously share more information with potential investors, and we are doing a fundraiser. So I wanted to have you guys talk a little bit about the use of proceeds. We're not talking in relative terms about a lot of money that's required here to get to this next milestone, which will allow you guys to start moving towards the path of monetization. But can you just talk a little bit about how the funds are planned to be spent?

Bhargav Varma: Sure. Yeah. Our plan is to use funds mostly into the technical development initially, because the product which we're trying to build is a technological based product basically, and the technology like blockchain, which is a cutting edge technology, and it is relatively new in the industry. So, there are a lot of research being done on the blockchain technology. So major part of the investment will be going into the research and the technical development of the application. And having said that, our major goal for the next 12 months down the line is to bring a decentralized messenger and a few features which we discussed in the timeline. So, in this 12 months, it will be entirely into the technical development and a portion of funds will be used to market application and reach scale.

- Brett Andrews: Great. Well I think that's going to do it for questions here, but I really applaud what you guys are doing. I think it's very topical. Obviously, we're all on social media and I don't see that ever going away. But I think it's about time that somebody sort of redesigns the way that we think about it from the ground up, and it sounds like you guys are working on exactly that, and you're doing it in a market that is massive and growing. So, real quick, before I give you guys the sort of parting thoughts here. I just want to thank everybody who's listening in on this. And if you do have any other questions or you're looking for more information, you're likely listening to this webinar or watching this webinar on the MicroVentures campaign page for CiSApp, if you scroll down, you can find a whole host of information that we put together in tandem with the CiSApp team.
- Brett Andrews: You'll see some industry data, a little bit more on the use of proceeds and the business model, and the team involved, and actually, the terms of the raise itself. I'd encourage you to take a look at those. And then if you do have any other questions after reviewing all of that, I would encourage you to go ahead and ask them in the discussion forum. CiSApp guys have been very good about responding to those. So, we encourage you to... If you do have a question, first, I guess, read through and see if it's already been asked, but if not, then go ahead and ask it there.
- Brett Andrews: And then of course, if you'd like to invest and be a part of what these guys are building, we would encourage you to do that as well, if you click on the bright orange invest tab up at the top right. If you have an account with us, you likely know how the process works. If you don't, then you can sign up, it's free to sign up and make an account, and then walk you through the process in order to, again, be a part of what these guys are building. So, I want to thank everybody. Again, real quick, before we do sign off, you guys have any sort of parting thoughts you'd like to leave everyone with or anywhere else you'd like to point people towards?
- Austin Hill: Yeah. I'll just jump in and give my two cents on it. We work with these guys, I think six or seven months, we've been in communication with them and kind of working together, and it's been really impressive what they've been able to do with the very limited budget that they have, and they're very good stewards of that money. And Brad and I are both actively involved with this, and kind of helping them through their progression. We've both been involved in a lot of different types of startups and work with a lot of startup founders, and we're just continuing to be impressed with these guys.
- Austin Hill: I've got my money where my mouth is on this, so invest. If you have any questions, please, like Brett said, put them in the Q and A at the bottom of their offering page. And thank you for your time.
- Brett Andrews: Yeah. Thanks Austin. I just do want to actually second something here, is that one of the things that got us MicroVentures excited about this was, in addition to the big picture idea and the progress that they had made on relatively little capital and the attractive terms, was Seed Round Capital's involvement. So, that's Austin's firm. I would, I guess, encourage you, anybody listening to check them out. They've done some great stuff and are continuing to do so. So, I think it's a big validation that they're participating in this as well. So just wanted to add that point. But Imran, Bhargav, unless you guys have any final thoughts, we can go ahead and sign off here.

Bhargav Varma: Yeah. Thanks Brett. Basically, with CiSApp, we are creating a social media ecosystem where all stakeholders can feel safe and rewarded. So, join us in our journey, and we are super proud to have Seed Round Capital on our site. So, a special thanks to both Brad and Austin on this note. Thanks everybody for your time.

Brett Andrews: Great. Thanks again, guys. Thanks again to everyone tuning in here. Really appreciate it. I'll let you guys go and enjoy your weekends. But really appreciate the time today.

Austin Hill: Awesome. Thanks Brett.

Brett Andrews: Thanks guys. Talk to you soon. Bye-bye.

Bhargav Varma: Thanks Brett.
